Head Coach Ted Coy Says Yale's Team Work Overshadowed Harvard's Individual Playing

COY LAUDS YALE FOR ITS COURAGE

Head Coach Says That It Is Remarkable That An Eleven Composed of Inexperienced Players Should Hold Harvard's Great Ground-Gaining Machine.

> By EDWARD H. COY. Field Coach of the Yale Varsity Eleven.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 21.—For Yale it was a victory.

The odds were 2½ to 1 against her, yet she went into this game and proved that she was still a team that was hard to beat. It is remarkable that a hard to beat. It is remarkable that a kick, Scully was always on hand to take his place.

hard to beat. It is remarkable that a team such as Yale has, composed of inexperienced players and discouraged by two defeats at the hands of heretofore unpretentious rivals, should have been able to play such a game as Captain Daly's men did against the Harvard team.

It is said that Harvard had one of the best teams she has had for a long time; yet Yale was able to hold her down and team.

pest teams she has had for a long time; yet Yale was able to hold her down and prove herself constantly a dangerous opponent. Harvard's offensive game which consisted of delayed passes and plays in which the point of attack was concealed, was powerful. But Yale's defense was such that it could meet this attack of Harvard and prevent scoring.

Individually Wendell, of Harvard, was been strong defensive factors in Yale's year. To my mind it was good team playing versus individual star playing. Corbett's Fumbles Hurt.

McKay at tackle was a powerful opponent on the defense. Corbett at times was as good as Wendell, but at other times he failed noticeably to do his work. Had it not been for his fumbles Harvard would have been much better off.

For Yale, Klipatrick played his usual stellar game at end. Notwithstanding the fact that Harvard placed two men is largely to the new game. Provided the remaining games of the season end as the big game did Saturday, the rules committee will be congratulated for the elimination of the heretofore serious accidents. It is a pleasure to see that possibly the game has become less dangerous, and every one who has played football is glad of the chinge.

The weather for the game was ideal. A cold northwest wind was blowing, but toward the end of the game it died down and throughout the game it seemed to make very little difference with the kicking. More than 33,000 persons saw the game. It was the largest football game in New Haven.

Fifty-nine auto makers have contracted for space in Grand Central Palace. New York, where the annual show of the American Motor Car Manufacturers' Association will be held during the first week of the new year. It is expected that at least a dozen more makers will take space before the show opens. It is pointed out by the managers of the show that many of the cars to be exhibited are new to New York, some of them embodying in their construction new and novel ideas. Hundreds of dealers throughout the country are planning to take in this show.

Robert B. Caverly and Harrington Mills represented the District of Columbia at a conference of State officials held yesterday at the Touring Club of America, in New York. The conference was for the purpose of considering measures whereby automobile laws of the different States be so framed as to permit the residents from one State, after having compiled with the regulations of their own State, to tour in adjoining States without being subjected to additional legal requirements. Ten States were represented at the conference. Several resolutions were adopted, all being in line with the general proposition that uniformity in State laws is necessary.

After today's work the services of the scrubs will be dispensed with. Great credit is due to the scrubbs, for it is owing to them that the warstty has proved itself an unusually superior team which was kept in constant trim by the scrubs. Though the scrubs are lighter than the varsity, the regulars have always been pushed to their very limit to keep the second team from scorings.

the scrubs had perfected some sort of team work, it was not considered anything very special when they held the varsity without a score, and several times they carried off the honors of the day.

Today's scrimmage is in preparation for the Lehigh game. All are eager to defeat this team, in order that the varsity may close its season, with but Manager Joliat is making extra preparations for handling a large crowd on Thanksgiving Day. It is expected that the number of spectators will be equal to that which saw the Virginia game, as Lehigh has always proved a great drawing card in this city.
